

Here we are again with another amazing pack for you guys! Big EDM – Future Pop is one of the most stunning and well rounded packs we have made. Here to bring you guys the resources to have your sound mimic those popular EDM artist such as Marshmello, Martin Garrix, David Guetta and The Chainsmokers, this pack will for sure have you breaking into the biggest venues and signing with some of the world biggest EDM labels.

Future Pop is a complicated genre that has been rising to prominence in the EDM scene lately. It has taken people a while to figure out exactly what to call this genre, simply because it mixes a lot of genres together such as Future Bass being its primary sound, House, Break beat and Electro. The simple combination of the elements of these genres has made such a huge impact in the industry with the hypnotic melodies, gorgeous vocal chops, stunning chord progressions and powerful yet subtle drums.

Future Pop is not an easy genre to break into these days, with thousands of producers trying to make their music heard by crafting their own sound, it makes the genre incredibly saturated. This is our reason for making this pack! We want to assist any producer who is having complications with coming up with his or her own sound. This pack is at such a high quality, that we can assure you great success in your productions.

Now is the time to let you know what is in this amazing pack. We can promise you that you will be blown away!
