

'Hardstyle Future Sample Pack by Elevated Trance is your go to toolbox for your Hardstyle needs featuring Bass Loops, Beat Shots, Drum Loops, Drum Shots, FX, Serum 2 Presets, Synth Loops, and Synth Shots.

Hardstyle is a high-energy electronic dance music genre that blends the aggression of hardcore with the melodic drive of trance and hard trance. Emerging in the early 2000s, particularly from the Dutch and Italian scenes, it quickly developed a distinct identity built around huge, distorted kicks, euphoric melodies, and dramatic build-ups designed for big festival sound systems.

The most iconic element of Hardstyle is its kick drum: heavily distorted, often pitched, and carrying both the low-end bass and a crunchy midrange tone. Instead of a traditional bassline, the kick itself usually provides the groove, sometimes combined with reverse-bass patterns in early and classic Hardstyle, or ultra-compressed “tokky” kicks in modern and raw styles. Tempos typically sit between 140–160 BPM, giving the genre its relentless, driving feel.

Melodically, Hardstyle is known for big, emotional lead lines built from supersaws, layered plucks, and atmospheric pads. Euphoric Hardstyle leans into uplifting chords, anthem-style hooks, and sing-along toplines, often with long, cinematic breakdowns before the kick returns in full power. On the other side, Rawstyle (a harder branch of Hardstyle) emphasizes darker sound design, gritty screeches, dissonant riffs, and a more aggressive overall tone.

Structurally, Hardstyle tracks are crafted for DJ performance: intros and outros built from stripped-back kicks and percussion, impactful mid-sections, and huge drops that pay off the main melody. Sound design is heavily processed, with distortion, multiband compression, sidechain pumping, and creative use of pitch modulation and automation.

Culturally, Hardstyle is tied closely to large-scale festivals and dedicated fan communities. The music often features themed concepts, storytelling intros, and even “anthem” tracks written specifically for events. Whether euphoric and melodic or dark and raw, Hardstyle is all about intensity, emotional release, and a powerful, physical connection on the dancefloor.
